As Sri Lanka celebrates

260 Red Letter Days

The Daily News, Sri Lanka's English Daily with the largest circulation has come out yet again with a ground-breaking concept in bringing out an excellent Limited Edition Collector's assemblage. This compilation offers the reader an idea what life was like, for instance, when independence was won by Ceylon - on Wednesday February 4, 1948.

Titled Daily News 260 Red Letter Days, the collection harks back over 60 years of headlines that signifies the crossroads of its post-independence history.

The volume 17.6" x 12" in size is hardbound and is available at the following bookshops at a very special concessionary price of Rs. 2,500. Since it will be a limited edition only a thousand copies will be available, so better hurry before they are all snapped up!

The book in addition will provide excellent reference material especially for historians, students of mass media/journalists and also may take many others back to those halcyon and salad days that they still so cherish.
