

inco 2009

inco 2009 premier industrial Exhibition and Trade Fair organized by the Institution of Incorporated Engineers Sri Lanka was successfully concluded yesterday.

inco 2009 is a customer focused large industrial exhibition in the country, which provides an opportunity to the local industrialists and business entrepreneurs to showcase their products and services.

This was designed to attract a wide cross section of exhibitors from the manufacturing, distributing, trading and engineering service providers in the country. inco 2009 was an ideal platform for creating opportunities and facilitation networks within the industry and also different sectors.

The exhibition commenced on June 26 at the BMICH.
